NOTES FROM THE EAST

An aeroplane mounted on skis made a trip from Calgary, landing on Claire Herin's field. The plane brought news of our war.

The Lone Pine dance was well attended with a surprisingly large crowd for the condition of the roads. Everyone claimed they had a real enjoyable time.

Burnside school is to open again. Here's hoping it will be able to continue until the end of the term without any more breaks. We welcome Miss R. Steeves from Swallow Creek to Burnside school.

Mr. Norford has had the telephone cut in late.

Mrs. Elwood Tonley spent the week end at her home. Mrs. Tonley gave a ride to Torrington and back. The bad roads seem to be only in our Didsbury district. Oh, well, we will have the moisture next spring.

Mrs. B. Woods had the misfortune to get kicked with a horse. It seems as though Mrs. Woods was riding a colt which had just been kicked by the horse, when the horse kicked her.

HIGH SCHOOL BONSPIEL

This bonspiel on January 26th held by the high school students was a great success. Rinks from Crossfield and Olds entered, besides four Didsbury rinks, two of which took the place of two. Carstairs rinks scheduled for the "snid".

Prizes went to rinks of Bill Rempe, winner of the main event; to Ken Gillette, second in the main event; to Bob McLean, winner of the consolation; and to Gordon Wardle, second in the consolation.

First prize of the main event was donated by the Builders' Hardware.

A tax consolidation by-law was passed. Under by-law was an approved provision for the same as counts as last year, i.e. 10 per cent if held within 30 days of issuance of tax notices; 5 per cent if paid on or before Dec. 1st.

A delegation was presented asking for a road to be opened up on the S.W. 16-31-1-5, just east of Didsbury. This new road would cut diagonally across this quarter section and would do away with the present road around the corner. No definite action was taken by council.

Accounts and tax cheques were passed and council adjourned to meet again March 4th.

CROW AT ELKTON
Mrs. C.A. Montgomery of Elkton sends us the following story:

At our farm here in the Fallen Timber we have a crow that decided to spend the winter with us. It comes to the house every morning for its breakfast, and stays at the barn when it is cold. It never misses its daily bath in the watering trough even on the coldest mornings, and it really enjoys it. He likes to ride on the children's shoulders or even on their head. He tries his best to imitate the children in their talk, and even to imitate the chickens.

WHO WILL PAY FOR WATER AND SEWAGE ?

Monday, March 11th is the day set to vote on the water and sewage by-laws for Didsbury and a number of ratepayers who are not going to be served by the initial installation have asked just how it will affect their taxes if they vote for the plan.

Again it must be pointed out that the proposed water and sewage system is to be paid for solely by the water users at tariffs provided for in the by-laws. All ratepayers who are not served by water will not pay one cent towards the system, because no taxes are levied against property to pay for the water and sewage installations.

In other words, if the water main does not go by your property, you can't use the system, and you won't be asked to pay one cent towards it.

The only reason that all the ratepayers are entitled to vote for or against the plan is that the Town Act gives them this privilege, and no provision is made to vote on any public by-law by only a portion of the voters.

The complete by-laws will be published shortly in 'The Pioneer'. When these appear it will be shown what parts of town will be served by water and sewage. If your property is to be served by these utilities you are asked to be sure and vote for the by-laws if you want modern conveniences. If your property is not to be serviced you are still asked to vote for the plan, because some day you may want the services extended, and of course no extension to water and sewage mains can be made if such a system does not exist.

Now, if you never get an extension of the system you will never pay anything towards it. But everyone making a living in town will benefit in some way. And the first real way will probably be in reduced taxes—or more public improvements. This is easy to understand when it is generally admitted that modern improvements will certainly increase building on town property. And these buildings will be taxable, thereby adding to the general assessment, which will provide the same tax revenue as at present at a lower mill rate. Too, these new buildings will provide work for local laborers and those who provide the materials.

Make up your mind now to vote for the water and sewage by-laws on March 11th.

COMPLICATED

A soldier just ahead of us at Grand Central Terminal told the ticket agent he wanted a Pullman berth.

"Upper or lower?" asked the agent.

"What's the difference?" asked the soldier.

"Well," replied the ticket-seller, "the lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower. If you want the lower you will have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. In other words, the higher, the lower. Most people don't like the upper, although it is lower, because it is higher. When you occupy an upper, you have to get up to go to bed and get down to get up. You can have the lower if you pay higher. The upper is lower than the lower because it is higher. If you are willing to go higher, it will be lower."

The soldier replied, "Give me a coach ticket."

GOOD QUALITY O. A. C. 21 BARLEY

Through conditions beyond control of the Grain and Malting trades of Canada, barley of all grades has been reduced to a common basic level in respect of returns to producers. The National Barley Committee has received assurance that this arrangement is temporary and concerns only the 1945 crop. Hence when planning the crop production programme for 1946 it may be safely assumed that GOOD QUALITY O.A.C. 21 BARLEY will again command a ready outlet and a premium price for malting purposes both at home and abroad.

WEDDINGS

NATIN-REIMER

Mr. and Mrs. H. Reimer of Elkton announce the marriage at Plymouth, Ontario, on January 28th, of their second daughter, Erna Jean, to Cmdr. Edwin Natin, R.C.O.C. of Montreal, Que. The bride was given in marriage by the groom's uncle, Mr. A. Russell, of Plymouth. A small reception was held at a hotel, and then the couple went to Bournemouth for their honeymoon.

Both are attached to Canadian Army Headquarters in London, and they expect to return to Canada in April, to make their home at Montreal.

SPENCER-BROWER

The marriage of Betty Lou Brower, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Brower of Harnett, and Mr. John James Spencer, son of Rev. H. Spencer of Calgary, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Brower of Didsbury January 25th.

The home was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers with an archway across one corner of spruce bows intermingled with half-blown pink and white rosebuds and pink and white candles. Miss Jean Cogswell played the wedding march.

The first to enter was Rev. Emanuel Mattie, followed by the best man, Warren Brower, then John Spencer.

The bridesmaid, Miss Zelle Brower, sister of the bride, came in wearing a pink sheer floor-length gown with matching pink chapel veil, and carried ferns and yellow daffodils. She was followed by the bride in floor-length gown of white sheer. The neck-line was round, with pearl bead trim, and her veil was held in place by a semi-halo. She carried ferns and dark red roses, and wore a heart-shaped locket of sterling silver, the gift of the groom.

Arthur Worthington sang "Because" while the register was being signed.

Following the ceremony the guests sat down to a turkey dinner. The bride's table was decorated with a three-tier wedding cake.

Mr. E. Cogswell proposed a toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brower wore a flowered, mauve sheer dress. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The groom's aunt, Mrs. J. Tessdale wore a dress of brown sheer, and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Those coming from a distance were Rev. and Mrs. Emmanuel Mattie, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Abraham, Laurie and Barrie, of Innisfail, Rev. Hedley Spencer, the groom's father, and aunt, Mrs. Tessdale, of Calgary, Warren and Zelle Brower, of Red Deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer left later for Calgary, where they will make their home at 1811 4th st. west.

MOST OF US DON'T KNOW

Hardly anyone—not even the publisher—knows how important a newspaper is to a community.

The smaller the town, the more important the newspaper is in its economic life. Its news, editorials and feature stories focus the interest of surrounding territory on the place in which the paper is published.

This force and the force of advertisements by local merchants build an ever-widening trade area. This means more business, more money for schools, homes and churches—a bigger and better town.

A town with a newspaper is a town with a future. The better the paper, the brighter the future.

It deserves the support of every business man in that town.

We are trying to make this paper worthy of our town. Your help and suggestions are appreciated.

BURNSIDE NEWS NOTES

The Pioneer will have to look to its heels. A new publication is being circulated in the district "The Valley News" of Wimbourn, 17 miles north-east of here. The editorial shows little or no timidity and their motto "A weekly paper with a purpose" seems as though the editor has plenty of confidence in himself.

Otto Butner has purchased the Ed Blain farm east of here. Ed Blain having sold out is dicker for property in Didsbury. We hear his new residence may be the "Grey Lodge".

Hazel McCaig of Calgary was visiting with her brother Grenville, and other relatives in the district. Ivor and Mrs. Weber were visitors to the city on Friday.

GOOD ROADS PAY DIVIDENDS

"Car and truck owners pay for good roads whether they have them or not."

The Provincial Government is constitutionally responsible for the kind of roads we have in Alberta. It is morally responsible also because it collects the motor license fees, truck and bus licenses and gasoline tax.

Let us all help the Provincial government to discharge its obligations by giving them the necessary encouragement to start now on the ten-year $120,000,000 program planned by the Department of Public Works. Now is the time to start.

You can back the A.M.A.'s campaign for better roads by becoming a member. The annual fee is only $10 a year and gives you many valuable benefits and services.

ENEMY WEAPON: A German one-man submarine, the first to arrive in Canada, is pictured being carefully loaded on a Canadian Pacific flatcar at Montreal, for shipment to Ottawa after its arrival in the Dutch ship Blommestein. Along with an extensive collection of captured enemy weapons it will be used for research purposes and later will form part of Canada's projected World War II museum. Experience gained through war years in handling cumbersome munitions shipments ("high and wide" loads to the railroads) enables the C.P.R. to transport safely these prized trophies of war.

Marie Erickson is home from Edmonton recovering from the La Grippe.

Five saw mills within three miles of each other should furnish some native lumber for much-needed houses and barns.

Rev. and Mrs. A. Habermehl were in Calgary last week on business, and also to visit with Harold Clemens who is in the hospital.

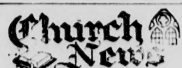

Aaron Griesbrecht, who is the sawyer on the new mill, has gone to Swatwell for a few days to see about his stock, while the new saw mill is being set.

Trying to avoid having the carriage jump the track, Mr. and Mrs. Tryve Halvorsen had their car leave the road on Saturday and they had a hard time finding some one to pull the vehicle back on the road again. They are now middle-of-the-road drivers.

STRAY CAT RETURNS

Mrs. Lou Boles received a letter recently from her sister-in-law Mrs. Harry Cudney of Calgary telling of the losing of their pet cat while on a trip to camp near Seebe last June 8th. On January 9th Mrs. Cudney stepped out on the back porch to find the cat had returned home. After seven months absence the cat was somewhat slow in renewing old acquaintances.

CANADA'S DYKELANDS

For many years the marshlands forming the shore of the Bay of Fundy in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have been protected by dykes. Over the years, many of them have fallen into disrepair.

After the formation of the Maritime Dykeland Rehabilitation Committee in 1942, an extensive survey was made and in 1944 the Dominion Government agreed to contribute a specified sum to cover the costs of repair work, the two provinces agreeing jointly to match that sum, while one-third of the total cost of any project would be contributed by the men who owned the marshland.

WHO DOES YOUR PRINTING?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how prone many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them.

Business men, remember that the home paper is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

INQUESTS ASKED IN DIPHTHERIA DEATHS

Recent statement of Maj.-Gen. Brock Chisholm, Deputy Minister of National Health, that an inquiry from diphtheria deaths from ignorance and superstition which prevents parents from giving children the protection of "toxoid treatment," has drawn support from prominent officials of the Health League of Canada.

Dr. Leagues National Immunization Committee, said the truth of Gen. Chisholm's statement was borne out by the fact that of the seven children who died during the current diphtheria outbreak in Ottawa, not one had been immunized.

This tragic evidence alone proves the value of toxoid," Dr. Chisholm said. "It is beyond comprehension why parents neglect to have their children given harmless toxoid protection when such protection is so easily obtainable in Canada today."

It is too bad that it takes an epidemic to make people realize the truth," he said in commenting on the fact that attendance at Ottawa's clinics for toxoid injections has increased more than 300 per cent since the outbreaks start.

Dr. Gordon Bates, General Director of the League, said he agrees with Gen. Chisholm that vigorous action is necessary.

"I trust that the 'Health Week' February 22 to 29th will do much to draw to the attention of all Canadians the fact that much disease is needless preventable. For instance, universal use of toxoid will wipe out diphtheria. National Immunization Week last fall drew attention to the known facts, but still there are thousands of parents who have been too indifferent to act."

If parents knowing the facts are still too indifferent and careless to protect their children by having them vaccinated, the time may come when such parents may be held responsible.

I suggest a corner's request in the case of diphtheria deaths might serve to awaken the public conscience.

Dr. Bates remarked that Health Minister J. B. Aitken, of Cuba recently ordered that protection against diphtheria for all children under eight years of age be made compulsory.

Apparently that is what we need in this country.

STILL CONTRIBUTING
Contributions to the Red Cross are continuing to make contributions to the Red Cross from their earnings and will continue to do so until the majority of Canadian ex-servicemen have returned. Seamen's Comforts

Daughters of the Empire Have Performed A Wonderful Service For Crews of Ships

During the war years the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire provided comforts and amenities to British Canadian and Allied Seamen valued at nearly one million dollars according to Mrs. H. S. Angus, National War Service Convenor. This assistance has been given in various ways. Thousands of games and puzzles, millions of magazines, over a million new and donated books have been provided through the Order for seamen in hospitals, hostels, the naval libraries and ships.

It is of interest to note that not only have books in English and French been given out, but to meet requests of Dutch, Polish, Norwegian and Greek seamen who put into Canadian ports, for books in their own languages, appeals were made by the Order in the United States and Canada for these books which when received were placed on the shelves.

At the request of the Department of Naval Services, I.O.D.E. Chapters "adopted" a total of 319 ships and provided thousands of dollars worth of amenities and "extras" for the crews of these adopted ships. An extract of a letter received from a man on one of our vessels reads: "Everything we have ever been given to us on duty for us seems to be connected with the I.O.D.E. in some way or other."

I.O.D.E. members have also rendered help to shipwrecked seamen's hostels in Canada and abroad and in past ten years have supplied large numbers of dirty bags which were distributed by the Navy League of Canada.

In addition, comforts have been provided in both Canadian and British ports. The I.O.D.E. operating distributing depots at Saint John N.B. and Sydney N.S. and according to the Special Services Officer of the Royal Canadian Navy, the I.O.D.E. was the chief source of supply of limited comforts for seamen distributed by Naval Distributing Centres at Halifax and other Canadian ports.

Since the beginning of the war a constant flow of comforts has been sent for seamen of the Navy and seamen of the Merchant Navy in British ports. The organizations receiving I.O.D.E. comforts for distribution have been the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen, the British Sailors' Society, and the Depot for Refugees for the Royal Navy. Although the latter depot has been closed recently, shipments of women's comforts are still being sent to the British Sailors' Society, both organizations which aid seamen in peace as well as in war, one of them having been in operation for over 100 years.

Owing to the extreme shortage of clothing in Britain, it has been, and is, very difficult for relatives and friends to provide the necessary women's comforts without continued help from Canada. This help, the I.O.D.E. members have been more than happy to give in the past and will continue to give as long as it is needed.

Dr. Leagues National Immunization Committee, said the truth of Gen. Chisholm's statement was borne out by the fact that of the seven children who died during the current diphtheria outbreak in Ottawa, not one had been immunized.

ELEMENTS OF HAPPINESS

Happiness is the legitimate fruitage of love and service. Arthur S. Hardy.

Seek happiness for its own sake, and you will not find it; seek for duty and happiness will follow as the shadow comes with the sunshine. Teyon Edwards.

If the principles of contentment are not within us, the height of station and worldly grandeur will as soon add a curb to a man's stature as to his happiness. Sterne.

Pure humanity, friendship, home, the interchange of love, bring to earth a foretaste of heaven. They purify terrestrial and celestial joys and crown them with blessings no finite. Mary Baker Eddy.

There is little pleasure in the world that is sincere and true beside that of doing our duty and doing good. No other is comparable to this. Thibaut.

An act of goodness is of itself an act of happiness. No reward coming after the event can compare with the sweet reward that went with it. Maurice Maeterlinck.

Germany Is To Be Allowed To Produce 1,500,000 Tons A Year

Germany is to be allowed a maximum production capacity of 1,500,000 tons a year but for actual output must not exceed 500,000 tons without special approval, the Allied Control Council decided. The steel plants to be left to Germany should be the older ones as far as practicable it was agreed. Germany's steel production in 1939 was 11,000,000 tons which had doubled by 1938 under the Nazi government.

Grisholm Model Was Their Wedding Present

ALTA BOUND, MELT RED TALE

So Mr. Francis Joseph Yarnish of Chicago, Ill., did it. He happily discharged the daughter of an Italian count and returned in time to spend Christmas at Guilford with his bride. Officials believe around the world are still gathering bits of red tape thrown to the four winds by the determined couple. "Frank" met his bride, Mrs. Lina Yarnish, while serving in an army hospital unit in Italy. He proposed marriage, was accepted, Col. F. B. Bowman of Hamilton, Ont., his commanding officer, absolutely forbade the marriage. A determined young man, Frank wrote to Ottawa—the colonel's head. In April, 1915—a year later, permission to wed the Italian was given. Frank had been sent to England five days before, was sent back to Canada and honorably discharged. On September 15 he managed to wrangle a permit to leave Canada, persuaded a high official in Washington to add him get passage, and when the Grisholm left New York Oct. 16, Frank was aboard. Bishop Pierre Gagnon personally officiated in Quebec cathedral. Among the guests were 700 townspeople, all of whom had firmly believed Lina would never see her Canadian fiancé again.

Played Major Part Veteran Repair Squad

A Long-Distance Detection Device Members of London Club Repaired Building After Three Raids

The United States Navy disclosed the wartime secret of "Huff Duff," an electronic long-distance device which played a major part in winning the battle of the Atlantic.

Technically called high frequency direction finder, the initials HF-DF rapidly became "Huff Duff" in service slang. The electrical "finger" could spot a ship or plane halfway around the world. It was used as a "beam" rocket finally did more damage than the other two bombs put together and the work of repairing the building has taken considerably longer.

The navy told how the device on board ships, planes and in a network of shore stations succeeded in breaking up U-boat wolf packs before they could assemble and how at least one of the submarines which landed the saboteurs on the Long Island and Florida coasts in 1942 was located and sunk before it could escape.

LUNCHBOX LYRICS

There'll be treats galore in the lunchboxes this Winter if you have all your surprises on Bran Nut Bread. This delicious easy-to-make bread can be varied to suit your taste. Told in any of the dried fruits, or orange juice. And occasionally vary the shape by making muffins instead of a loaf. Here's an idea for dressing Bran Nut Bread in party fashion: make the basic recipe, then fold in gumdrops in place of fruit!

Bran Nut Bread

- 1 egg
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons melted shortening
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup bran
- 2 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder

Beat egg and sugar until light. Add milk, shortening and bran. Sift together salt and baking powder, combine with nutmeats; add to first mixture, stirring only until flour appears. Spread in greased loaf pan, with marked paper in the bottom. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) about 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Variations of Basic Recipe

1. For 1 cup nutmeats and add 1 cup seedless raisins.
2. For 1 cup nutmeats and add 1 cup chopped dates.
3. For 1 cup nutmeats and add 1 cup chopped dried figs.
4. For 1 cup nutmeats and add 1 cup orange juice and 1/2 cup water for the 1 cup milk.
5. Add 1 tablespoon grated orange.

Note: Nutmeats may be omitted in first three variations if desired.

REG'AR FELLERS—Interior Decoration

A Coveted Honor

British Order of Merit Is Given To Few People

One of Britain's most coveted honors, the Order of Merit is conferred for outstanding achievement. No more than 24 persons may be in the order at one time. At present only 20 persons may add the initials O.M. to their name, among them General Eisenhower. When Britain's press announced a few weeks ago that King George VI had bestowed the Order of Merit on Professor A. N. Whitehead, eminent mathematician, physicist, philosopher and lecturer at Cambridge University, England, and Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., the name in the street was more impressed than if the Professor had been made a 10th, commoner "British". The Order of Merit is unlike any other honor which may be conferred on a British citizen. For one thing, it carries no title and confers no precedence. Its possessor has no extra privileges whatever. Instituted in 1902 by King Edward VII, the Order is reserved to such persons as may have rendered exceptionally meritorious service in the Crown Services of our Empire or have rendered exceptionally meritorious services towards the advancement of the Arts, Learning, Literature and Science.

In fact to receive it a person must have given such service to Britain in one or more of these spheres that no other honor meets his case.

The greatest recorded loss of life by shipwreck was in the sinking of the French cruiser Provence, Feb. 26, 1916, in the Mediterranean. Of the 1,000 aboard, only 870 were saved.

An Interesting Find

Survived German Helmet, Concealed Note That Could Be Hommel's

Three-year-old Bruce Perloff, Philadelphia, lying with the German helmet he'd been given as a souvenir, pulled off a strap and uncovered a secret message possibly despatched by the late commander of the German Africa Corps, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

"Look, Mommy," Bruce told his 20-year-old mother, Elsie.

She saw a three-five scrap of tattered paper marked "Important Dispatch."

On one side of the paper she found the words, partly illegible because of wear and tear: Joseph Seifert, commanding officer, 51st Tank Reserve, Africa Corps, and then in German: "Nicht offenden," which in English means "Do not open."

Under these words was drawn a crude swastika.

On the other side, it said in English: "Rommel's British counter attack at . . ."

But there the paper was torn. Under the tear the words "El Alamein" appear.

In one place the paper says "if retreat is necessary, the next defense line is at . . ."

At the bottom of the page, two initials, E. R., are marked in heavily and beside them is a swastika.

Prime Minister Aitken has warned Londoners that the winter will be "by no means easy". He holds out no hope for improvement in the shortage of food.

RED PAINT

By KATHLEEN GILCHRIST

The blazing sun shocked the air into rippling waves of heat that shimmered over the inert forms of horses and cattle, and emphasized the starkness of Ed Higgins' bare, unpainted barn, rising in ugly contrast behind the neat little bungalow, with its bright green paint and white trimmings, that his wife called "house."

From behind her spotlessly curtained kitchen window Marty Higgins gazed outside. Her thin face looked drawn, but her cotton dress was as fresh as her polished kitchen shoe. She shook her head at the memory of Doc's parting words that morning.

"I've done all I can, Marty," he'd said. "If Ed won't fight for himself."

"I can't understand his giving in so easy." There was a deep pointment than sorrow in Marty's voice. "Stubbish old fool, he gave me enough trouble any time I wanted him to do anything, goodness knows, and now to let pneumonia down him without a fight!"

The brown child beside her raised questioning eyes. He cocked one ear expectantly toward the bedroom door behind which Ed lay, his sunken cheeks under their unkempt whiskers mute evidence of the ravages of the first serious illness of his robust life. How unlike the gaiety of their courtship days! Rusty, and now when he's needed most, he's quiet. Marty gazed past the ugly structures of naked wood to the roving wheat-covered vastness of prairie beyond. The sun was beginning to turn its greenness into the golden ripeness of harvest, and this year every man needed for the war had rubbed the prairie of too many of her sons.

RUSTY wagged his tail in slow agreement. It was seven years since he'd come, a furry little pup, to live with Marty and Ed, and this was the first time in the battle that had started twenty years ago, when first Marty had stated her plans for a home.

"Painted buildings on a prairie farm. What's the matter with 'em the way they are?" Ed had scoffed. "You don't hear my cattle 'complainin' and wantin' new barns with paint on 'em, do you, and they seem to manage alright."

"But I'm not one of your cattle, Ed, and I want a decent home with paint on it, even if they don't." Marty had replied with aggravating tone, go ahead, but I'm having my home the way I want it."

Ed had evidently perceived Marty's compact and she proudly flaunted her neat bungalow in the bright coat of green as evidence of her victory in the first round of the battle, but the second round was not so easy.

"Shut naturally contrary. If I didn't want you to paint them, you would. You'd think that we were paupers. Instead of successful farmers," Marty often repeated in exasperation as one unpainted structure after another was raised to house Ed's increasing stock of cattle.

Twenty years! Marty repeated and shook her head. Lickensly she began to prepare a tray for Ed's supper. He'd passed the crisis days, but the strength that should be returning now was gradually ebbing away. Ed's wasted frame grew thinner and he answered her pleas to rest and try to help himself with lacklustre eyes that sunk deeper into the hollow cheeks.

The dog watched Marty carry the tray into the bedroom, to return a few minutes later with its contents scarcely touched.

"Rusty, if I only could rouse him somehow," I've pleaded with him, called him quiffer, tried to impress him with the need of the crops we'll harvest this year—the darned old fool's just going to die out of sheer stubbornness."

"Wonder what Ed would say if we painted them pink, Rusty?" The twinkle shining through the weariness in Marty's eyes suddenly sparkled. Marty crossed to the bedroom door with determined steps.

"How're you feeling, Ed?" There was a challenging note but Ed, flattened on the pillow, did not notice it.

"All right, I guess."

Marty sat down on the chair by his bed. "Ed," she said, "I've decided that since you're so set on dying, I may as well begin managing the farm my way now as later."

"Ed?"

"Yes, Ed, and the first thing I'm going to do is to paint these barns. I've stood them for twenty years for your sake, but if I've to carry on alone I'm going to do it my way."

"Ed?" Rusty sat up.

"Yes," Marty continued, "I hear that Barnes Hardware in town has a special on paint, so I've made out an order. They've got that nice bright red like the Smiths'."

"Over my dead body!" Marty smiled a little at the near-possibility of that picture. "Whatever gave you the idea that I'd have you to run the place to suit yourself?" Red paint in his barns—Ed, his back, his sunken eyes flashed.

MARTY retreated to the kitchen. There was a sudden brightness in her eyes. Rusty stopped a moment to lick the pale face of his invalid master before following. Ed's voice, rising in angry protest against the child indignity, convinced him that life was again assuming its normal proportions.

"Red paint—draw you, dog! Marty, there's no egg on or something, Red paint? Time I got up to see that them barns are painted a respectable colour, hurry up, I'm hungry." Red paint, trust you?"

"Red paint?" Marty echoed thoughtfully. "Rusty, looks like we've won a double-header this time. Hold your horses, I'm coming."

SMILE AWHILE

The old lady kept to her seat determinedly as the doctor's movements of certification passed down the aisle to the church door.

"If everybody else would only do as I do, and stay quietly in their seats until every one has left," she murmured, "there wouldn't be such a crush at the doors."

"Well, sir, what's the trouble?" asked the doctor of the patient who had called for him urgently.

"That's for you to find out," the patient answered grumpily.

"In that case I'll call in a friend of mine. He's a vet," answered the doctor. "He's the only one I know who can make a diagnosis without asking questions."

Teacher said this morning, mummy. "Hands up all these children who had an egg for breakfast."

"So I put my hand up because I was going to have one for tea."

Mrs. Newwood: "Henry, I thought you told me that your bank loaned money on notes."

Mr. Newwood: "So it does, dear. Why?"

Mrs. Newwood: "Well, it doesn't. I sent the mail down there with a note telling them I wanted to borrow $100 and they wouldn't give it to her."

Old Brown lecturing his granddaughter: "I never see a bluish on a girl's face now. In my day it was very different."

Flapper: "Why, Granddad, did you say say to them?"

Husband: "Barling, I believe that I am falling."

Wife (in alarm): "Gracious! How often have I warned you, George, against your foolish speculations?"

"Husband: "I don't mean in business, dear. I mean I'm falling in health."

Wife (relieved): "Oh, is that all?"

"Pop, if I saved you a dollar would you give me 50 cents of it?"

"Yes, I guess so, son."

"Well, I saved it for you. You told me you'd give me a dollar if I passed in arithmetic, and I didn't pass."

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q When I was discharged from the services I did not make use of my priority stock purchase certificate. The month has now elapsed and I would like to know if I am still eligible for this priority stock.

A Branches and Local Ration Boards of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board have authority to extend the validity period of priority stock purchase certificates. If they are satisfied the applicants have been unable to use them within the month allowed.

Q Why are the sugar and preserves ration coupons being combined in 1947?

A To simplify our rationing system and to reduce the number of coupons required for 1947 purchases of sugar and preserves, and thus to extend the life of ration book 5.

Q My son is in the American Forces. Will he be given a priority certificate when he returns from the United States to take up residence in Canada?

A Yes, priority and purchase certificates will be issued to Canadians who have been discharged from the American Forces and who are returning to reside in Canada, provided that the applicants are able to establish that they are Canadian citizens discharged from the American Army since May 1, 1945, and that they produce their discharge certificate to have a notation placed thereon that a priority certificate has been issued.

Q Is unswatched canned fruit on the ration list?

A Yes, unswatched canned fruit is rationed because it is in very short supply and is required by certain individuals who are invalids and could not be sure of obtaining supplies if they were unswatched.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your rationing, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

History Of Vancouver

Sixty Years Ago It Was A Scattered Collection Of Shacks

Just sixty years ago Vancouver was a small, scattered collection of shacks in the forest on the shore of Burrard Inlet. On January 8, 1886, a group of residents of the village, then known as Granville, appointed a committee to seek incorporation of the settlement as a city.

On January 15, 125 villagers signed their names to a petition for a city charter, on April 2 the charter was granted by the provincial Legislature, and on April 4 the Lieutenant Governor gave assent to the measure and the City of Vancouver was born.

Two months later, on June 13 the city settlement was wiped out by fire. Vancouver-News Herald.

Railroad Safety

Number Of Wrecks In Central States

The number of railroad wrecks in the U.S. brings rail safety to the fore as a subject of public concern.

The causes have been various. Back of all of them, no doubt, is the strain imposed on old equipment and insufficient manpower by military demobilization plus a big load of domestic freight and civilian travel.

But these conditions are not an excuse for a breakdown in safety. They merely impose an obligation to take extra care.

If the railroads would make use of known methods of communication and signalling, there ought never to be another collision. It is possible to communicate by radio both ways between trains and dispatchers, or from train to train.

Moreover, there's such a thing in the world as radar. If such a device can penetrate the clouds to locate a hostile airplane or a ground target, it must be possible to use it to show an engineer whether there's another train on the track ahead of him. Chicago Daily News.

WANTS EAGLE FEATHERS

Canada's west is still wild and woolly—at least one resident of Albuquerque, New Mexico, thinks so. Bernice Ueland of Albuquerque has requested the Winnipeg Board of Trade to send her eagle feathers, animal claws and teeth of various wild animals. The Board is sorry it will be unable to do so. They reviewed the situation and discovered there are few, if any, eagles in Western Canada. There also seems to be a dearth of wild animal teeth.

Never Too Late

English Farm Worker At 83 Has Learned To Read

All his long life John Mullinger, of Spalding, Lincolnshire, had got along without being able to read.

As a farm worker at Holbeck, Bank, near Spalding, he started work when he was nine—John did not have much time for books or papers.

But when the war started and the raids made it quite a personal affair for old John, he decided he'd better learn to read so that he could keep abreast of the things.

Now, at 83, John has learned to read—and he devours all newspapers.
